He listed the Campus Fund Drive, the Christmas party, and the seminar and discussion groups as examples of the traditional activities which the Congregation has participated in this year. Anyone For Tennis?

With the record rainfall of the past weeks came this little two-legged creature to one of Hamilton's many puddles. Mike Stephenson's camera found the duck, pictured above, playing on the tennis courts. The duck seems to be the only one contented with the weather that has turned Hill spring into a monsoon-like season.

Al Bagg, '54, has been appointed manager of next year's Choir, according to Director John Baldwin. Other new officers are: Neil Gould, librarian; and Bob Ward and Tom Fisher, publicity directors.

Levy, Oxford-Bound, Wins Fulbright Aid

A Hamilton senior, Charles Levy, received notice last week that he has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study in England next year.

Levy, '53, will use the award to study English and the classics at New College, Oxford University. The award will give him traveling and living expenses plus tuition and other college expenses.

Among 400

Levy is among approximately 400 men who were accepted from several thousand for the Fulbright award. He turned down full scholarships to Harvard and Cornell Universities to take advantage of the grant.

The Fulbright grant was established at the end of the war by a Congressional act sponsored by Arkansas Senator William Fulbright. The awards were made possible as a partial payment to the United States government for materials left in foreign countries during the war. The Allied governments plus Japan participated in the agreement,but since that time other Allied nations and Germany have been added to the original list of countries.

"Brightest Student"

Referred to in Life magazine's article on Hamilton as the College's "brightest student," Levy has been High Honor on the Dean's List throughout his college career. Levy, elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the end of his junior year, has maintained a 95.15 average according to the Life article.

Levy has been the recipient of many prizes and scholarships while on the Hill. In his freshman year he was one of the four Fayerweather Scholars, and, for having the highest freshman average that year, he was awarded the Brockway Prize.

Prize Winner

He is also a past holder of the Winslow Prizes in Greek and Latin, the Hawley Prize in Greek, the Truax Prize in Greek and the Fitch Prize in Latin.

Levy, who was graduated from Stuyvesant High School in New York City, has been active in Hill organizations. He is a member of the Literary Board of the Continental, the debating team, and Delta Sigma Rho, the national honorary debating fraternity. Levy was also elected last month to Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity.

Shaw Play Opens Wednesday Night

The Charlatans will open their spring production, G. B. Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra, Wednesday evening.

The cast of 26—starring Utican Marcia Cook and Bill Woodman— will perform the historical comedy on the three-leveled stage erected in Commons. Following the Wednesday debut, the Charlatans will present Caesar and Cleopatra on Thursday and Friday nights at 8:30 p.m.

Bill Woodman, Charlatans Director, has called the production "one of the most spectacular" offerings in recent seasons. For this reason, the group has placed all seats on reserve basis.

Admission is free to all performances, but tickets must be obtained in advance. The Charlatans' box-office will open tomorrow morning in Root Hall.

Friday night's performance falls on the first evening of Spring Houseparty, and students with dates are being given priority for that night. Students without dates and faculty have been asked by the Charlatans to come on the first two evenings.

Woodman suggested that "all students obtain their seats early, since a large attendance is expected."

Caesar and Cleopatra went into Charlatans rehearsals a month ago and moved onto the Commons stage this week. Carl Zanger, Charlatans Production Manaager, supervised the erection of the production's sets, which he himself designed during this past week.

The group also installed a new switchboard this week in Commons to handle the play's lighting. The switchboard was built by Edson Beckwith, Evan Powell and Jim Kehoe.

The cast for Caesar and Cleopatra includes Rusty Kerr, Greg Bathon, Pete Mayer, Charles Rose, Neil Gould, Sylvia Saunders, and Al Van Buren.

Other roles are filled by Patricia Tolles, Don Abrahams, Bill Herbster, Dan Fulmer, Kedar Adour, Eleanore Leahy, and Mildred Wood.

Also acting in the production are Ted Hansen, Al Coleman, Ron Jabaut, Connie Ring, Bill

Highet; 'History Is Groups' Relations'

Declaring that "the movement of ideas from one country or civilization to another is one of the most important forces in history," Gilbert Highet, Winslow lecturer, charmed a Chapel audience of nearly 100 last night with his account of the influence of the transfer of ideas on history.

Highet will give the second Winslow lecture tonight at 8 p.m. at the Alpha Delta Phi House.

Defining history as the study of relationships between groups, Highet first considered these relationships in terms of power and economics. He demonstrated that these concepts were not adequate for a full explanation of history and concluded that "much of the history of great nations can best be understood, not in terms of politics or of economics, but in terms of education."

Highet indicated this by referring to the history of Japan in the 19th century. Japan's political, economical and social life was radically changed by her pronounced intention to "seek knowledge throughout the world," he said. She adopted the Bavarian constitution as a model for her own and created a national Bank after that of Belgium, changing her culture from a medieval one to a modern one.

Recently, Highet added, the United States finished educating the Japanese again. The results of this education are yet to be seen.

Describing the relations of ancient Greece and Rome, Highet said that Rome had learned from the Greeks, and added to Greek culture a depth and understanding of their own. Highet continued to say that much of our Christian thought was transmitted to us through the Romans and still retains the imprint of Roman culture.

A third example of the influence of ideas on history was indicated in the history of Buddhist art. Greek sculptors used the face of the Greek god Appollo to make statues of Buddha. Before this, Buddhist sculpture had never attempted to show Buddha. This conception of Buddha spread with Buddhism to Java, China and Japan.

Unfinished Business . . .

It is unfortunate and surprising that the Campus Fund has not yet closed its books on the 1952-53 drive. In fact, Fund officers are relatively far from being able to do this.

Of the total amount of $3,366.30 pledged by the students and faculty only $3,067.30 has been paid. Almost $300, therefore, is still uncollected.

The deficit is hardly the fault of the Fund's soliciters or officers. They have worked consistently and diligently in collecting the money. A great amount of planning and hard work goes into the drive, and this has usually paid off in success.

Even the campus on the whole is not at fault. Most students and faculty members contributed wholeheartedly. The cause then for the Drive's lack of total success lies in, first, the neglect on the part of certain individuals in fulfilling their promises.

There is, however, another cause that can be attributed to the general attitude of people towards the Fund. What seems to be wrong is a lag in enthusiasm and interest in addition to a lack of cooperation.

This can be borne out by looking at some more figures. The first two years of the Campus Fund drive proved an overwhelming succeses. In the second year, 1950, the goal of $3,500 was topped by $283. Last year, students and faculty pledged almost $100 more than the same goal of $3,500.

The same goal was again set for the Drive this year. However, the amount pledged this year fell below the planned figure by approximately $140. Now, this week's figures show the situation to be even worse, in that not even the fulfillment of the pledges has been high.

It is a reluctant realization that it is difficult to keep such a drive going year after year. It is discouraging to Fund workers and to contributors alike. The campus wanted such a drive, and that is why it still exists.

In the face of these conditions, the students and faculty, who have not yet fulfilled their pledges, should, first of all, do so as soon as possible. Secondly, and more importantly, the College should promise and expect to have as successful and cooperative a drive next year as in the past.

3 Sub-Freshmen Win Alumni Aid

Three high school seniors from New York and Illinois, who will enter Hamilton next fall, have been awarded alumni scholarships of $4,000 each.

The Hamilton alumni of New York's Southern Tier and Pennsylvania's Bradford County have named Bruno Colapietro of Endicott, N. Y., as their scholarship recipient.

George Rutter, Evanston, and Alan Olson, Rockford, are the winners of the Illinois alumni scholarship. The scholarship stipulates that the students be sons of high school teachers.

Colapietro, a senior at Union-Endicott High, will prepare at Hamilton for a career in law. He is president of the high school's student body, member of the yearbook staff, student council and a letterman in varsity baseball and volleyball.

Rutter is consistently on the Evanston High honor roll. Besides earning leters in wrestling and football, he is assistant sports editor of the school newspaper and leader of the dance band.

Olson is treasurer of the Rockford Youth Council, vice-president of the student council, and letterman in baseball. He is also active in publications and dramatics.

Other alumni scholarship winners will be announced later this month. Students now at Hamilton, who request financial aid for next year, should apply by June 1.

Glass, Gray Given Honors At Albany Student Meeting

Sheldon Glass and Dan Gray, members of the Debate Club, won recognition for their part in the New York State Intercollegiate Student Conference on Public Affairs held last week in Albany.

Glass was awarded a first ranking of "outstanding" and Gray received a secondary ranking of "excellent." The awards were based upon participation of the delegates in committee meetings. The winners were selected by student and faculty voting. Glass was also appointed Chairman of the sub-committee on agenda.

The conference is styled on a model legislative basis. The first day of the Conference is spent in committee meetings which draw up bills to be presented to the assembly. The second day is spent in the state assembly discussing and voting on the bills presented by the committees.

Gray introduced a bill which by the state conservation department of mining operations on state-owned lands to reduce "wastage of natural resources." Glass's bill called for stricter inspection of the financial assets and dealings of government employees in an effort to improve the "ethics of public officials." Both bills were passed by the student assembly. George Lowerre, third member of the Hamilton delegation, participated as a member of the committee for education.

Twenty-two New York state colleges were enrolled in the Conference with a student registration of over 100 delegates and alternates.

Fund Raising Group Launches '53 Drive

The Friends of Hamilton Fund organization will begin its seventh year of solicitation this month. This Fund is contributed to by parents of students and alumni, associates of the College and others interested in Hamilton.

The chairman of the Fund this year is Chester Dewey, one of two College trustees who are not alumni. The three vice-chairmen are William D. Winter, Richard Balch, Democratic party chairman in New York State and father of James Balch, '55, and Mrs. Franklin Ely.

Last year's chairman, John Hancock, led the Fund in 1952 to its most successful year $8,000 was contributed by 153 donors.

G. B. Shaw Becomes Caesar In 'Adolescent' Spring Play

By Bill Woodman

"Although I was forty-four when I wrote Caesar and Cleopatra, I now think I was a trifle too young for the job; but it was not bad for a juvenile effort." Few, if any members of the Charlatans have reached half the age of forty-four; but then perhaps they realize they are working with a play which most consider something more than juvenile. For George Bernard Shaw was at the height of his career when he wrote of the Roman conqueror's meeting with the siren of the Nile.

Although the play is generally referred to as a comedy, and a very funny one at that, Shaw calls it a history since it is written in the form of a chronicle play. The story was taken without alteration from the German historian Mommsen. "I read a lot of other stuff, from Plutarch, who hated Caesar, to Ward Fowler," says Shaw, "but I found that Mommsen had conceived Caesar as I wished to present him, and he told the story of the trip to Egypt like a man who believed in it, which many historians don't."

Despite Shaw's insistence on accuracy, he could not help idealizing Mommsen's portrait of Caesar, and the character emerges as a reflection of Shaw himself. If the dictators of the world had resembled Shaw's comedian a little more closely, history would undoubtedly have been very different. For both Caesar and Cleopatra are presented in a natural and humorous way, and one comes to realize that the laureled conqueror also blew his nose like other human beings.

In Shakespeare's Anthony and Cleopatra, Caesar had been dead for some time and Cleopatra was a mature woman. Shaw's comedy portrays her as a sixteen year old girl, disarmingly innocent in the early scenes, who learns about leadership from a paternal Caesar, and then manages to retain her independence as a person when, in the final scenes, she turns Caesar's clemency against him. Throughout the play one sees these historical gods knocked off the pedestals and brought out of the text book, as Cleopatra laughs at Caesar's baldness, to his consternation, and then is thrown into the sea after being unwrapped from a Persian carpet.

Shaw did not merely humanize his two principals. In Britannus, Caesar's secretary who is constantly afraid his master will not adhere to the customs of his own "island in the Western end of the World," we have a wonderful satire of British sanctimoniousness. The Egyptain courtiers are all actual characters referred to in Mommsen: Pothinus and Theodotus governed for and tutored the young King Ptolemy; and Appollodorus, the rug merchant, actually did take Cleopatra, hidden in bedding, by boat to Caesar in the midst of a bloody campaign.

It is doubtful, however, that any of these people spoke the sparkling dialogue that they speak in Shaw's play. Amid the general gaiety, though, the moral wisdom interwoven into the character of Caesar becomes increasingly moving and pertinent, until in the last act he shows to a terrified Cleopatra that one should not overlook the political value of clemency and replace it with the political blunder of violence. It is here that Caesar and Cleopatra attains its true distinction as a play—a perfect combination of wit and wisdom written in the finest Shavian style.

CONTINENTAL CONFIDENTIAL

By Jim Kehoe

Unlike most larger colleges, Hamilton encourages its freshmen to participate in varsity intercollegiate sports, and because of the College's small enrollment, the frosh can hold their own with the best of upperclassmen. This year, the class of '56 has not only gone out for the varsity teams, but has also produced a number of outstanding players.

In the fall some of the freshmen came to the Hill early to try their hand at the fine art of football. After the first scrimmages, Coach Don Jones announced that tall Bill Fivaz would see action on both the defensive and offensive teams at the right end position, next to a few other fellow classmates. It will be a common sight in the next three years to see these frosh in action—namely Ed Bradley, defensive half-back, Fritz Houtenbrink, offensive tackle, Johnny Glezen and Wayne Mahood.

Stripp, Lawder Assured of Berths

Soccer coach Bill Tomik also found freshmen valuable on his soccer squad. Al Stripp, who headed around the ball back in Wyoming, New York, and Bob Lawder, who had seen no little action, also, are assured of their positions again next year.

During the winter, the frosh really outdid themselves. Pete Eckel asounded his teammates with his blind passing techniques on the basketball court. Told by coach Ken Patrick to calm down a bit and practice his under-the-board shot, Eckel developed into a great team player. Dave Moffet turned in a sterling performance on the court, also. He played a tremendous game against Stevens College Winter Carnival weekend, popping in 16 points.

Frosh Excell On Ice

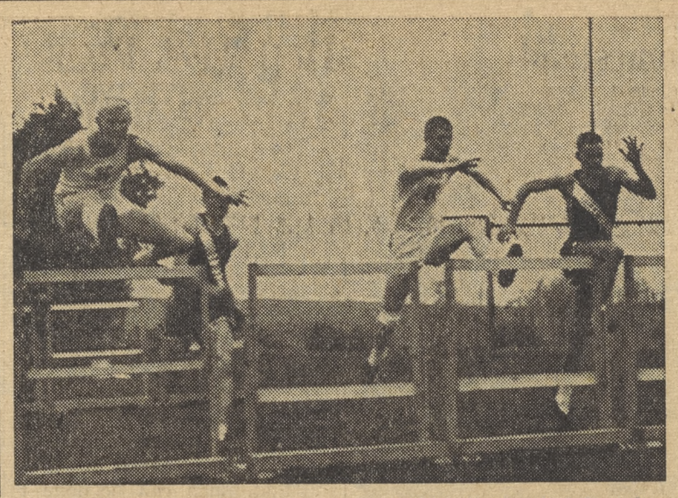
Hockey goalie Gerry Wullschleger, who showed promise in both Clinton Comet and Hill scrimmages, led all contenders for his position on the hockey team at the beginning of the season. Except for his occasional fits of "dropsey," which he will probably cure himself of next season, Gerry made a good record for himself this past season. Freshmen Chip Pickering, Dan Koehler, and Bruce King did equally as well on the ice.

So far this spring, the freshmen are practically taking over the sports limelight. Earl Cline, winner of the pentathalon, is starring for the rack team. He has jumped an unofficial 22'1" in the broad jump, which, besides being an unrecorded College record is a long leap in any man's language.

Frosh On Diamond

Don Ivers is a big man in lacrosse, having scored eight goals in three games. Harry Presburg is a man to watch on the tennis courts. His close-to-the-net play and his hard, driving angle shots are a thrill to watch. Dan Koehler is filling in for Charlie Persons on the golf team, and has done well on the links. In baseball there are five frosh "starters": Don Pratt, Joe Giglio, Johnny Glezen, Dave Moffet and Ron Hovey.

All this chatter seems to prove one thing. Hamilton, by allowing the freshmen to compete in varsity sports, not only is letting them gain necessary experience, but is also at the same time letting them contribute to the teams' success. Perhaps, Life could have played up this angle in their list of small college advantages.



UP AND OVER—Roy Basler and "Whitey" Martindale take another high hurdle at the Hartwick track meet. Martindale edged Basler out to win this race

Stickmen Defeated On Sloppy Field

The Hamilton College lacrosse team literally rolled into the mud of their home field in a practice game last Saturday afternoon against an experienced team from the Onondaga Indian Reservation. The Indians, primarily a box lacrosse team, passed and shot their way to an easy 22-8 victory. The Continentals resume their schedule Saturday afternoon against Cortland College at Cortland. The Redmen have recently played RPI and Cornell, both class A teams, and have lost to them by one and two goals respectively.

Tirrell Leads Blue

All scoring honors in the Indian game belong to the Indians, while John Tirrell led Hamilton scoring with three goals and Bob Fellows netted two goals. Single tallies were made by Jim Brown, Gordie Raitt and captain Bob Maider. Maider was removed from play, possibly for the remainder of the season, by a knee injury suffered during the second period. Coach Tomik will have the problem of reforming the first midfield, but as yet Maider's replacement has not been announced.

Hamilton started the first period scoring, but by the end of the period, the Indians had scored seven times. Two more scores by the Blue in the second period could hardly keep up with the Indians' smooth passing attack, and at the end of the half the scoire was 13-3 for the Indians.

Rally Gives Out

In the third period the Blue outscored the Indians, but the rally fell short and the Indians continued to dominate play throughout the remainder of the game.

The Hamilton scoring percentage was the lowest it has been all season. The Blue netted only 8 out of 71 shots for a poor average. Much improvement will have to be made in this department if the Blue expect to have a winning season.

Blue Nine Falters In Seventh Inning; Loses Close Duel

By Comer Coppie

The Hamilton College baseball nine suffered their second defeat in a row when they lost to Hobart College last Wednesday afternoon on the Blue diamond. The Hill nine takes to the road this weekend. This afternoon they were scheduled to face Hobart in a return game, and tomorrow afternoon they meet Rochester there.

The Hobart game saw a Blue rally fall short in the ninth, and the Statesmen managed to cop an exciting 7-5 victory. The first five innings of the contest proved to be a real pitcher's battle between the Hill's Bill May and Hobart's Miles Blakeslee. Righthander Blakeslee pitched four and one-third inings of scoreless ball, and not until the Hamilton rally in the ninth did he give up more than two hits.

The game was a scoreless tie for the first five innings. The Statesmen broke the deadlock in the sixth when they scored on two singles and an error by May. The Blue came right back in their half of the sixth when, with two out, Dinny Calkins walked, stole second, and came home on Don Grant's towering double to center. The rally fell short of another run when Joe Giglio grounded to short with the bases loaded.

Hobart continued to roll in their half of the seventh. Taking advantage of three Hamilton errors, the Statesmen crossed the plate five times. The Hobart nine sent 11 men to the plate in this marathon inning.

Blue Rally

Blakeslee continued to set the Blue down in the sixth and seventh; however, in the ninth, a Hamilton rally just fell short of tying the ballgame. With two down, Dave Moffet and Dave Davis walked, and John Glezen lined a double to left to score Moffet. Ron Seaman and Dinny Calkins kept the rally alive with a single and double that made the score 7-5. Don Grant hit a long fly to left to end the ball game.

Hill Cindermen Swamp Hartwick In First Win

With an unexpected show of power last Saturday afternoon, the Hamilton track squad swamped Hartwick by the lopsided score of 82-43. This impressive victory makes the outlook for tomorrow's meet at Cortland bright.

Hamilton took nine first places and filled in with numerous seconds and thirds. Clean sweeps were scored by the Blue in the broad jump, javelin and shot put.

Cline Does Honors

Yearling Earl Cline again paced the teams by scoring three first places, easily the top individual performance for the day. He won the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.5 seconds, the low hurdles in 27 seconds, and the broad jump with a leap of 20 ft, 4.5 in. Bob Olwine and Carl Wheeler took second and third to complete the Blue domination in the jumping event.

Irving Reid made it two straight victories in his specialty, the quarter-mile, and Whitey Martindale beat Roy Basler to take honors in the high hurdles. John Ibach cleared 5 ft. 6 in. to top the high jumpers and Bob Braunlich's throw of 124 feet was the best in the javelin event. Bob Schumacher and Olwine followed Braunlich closely to give Hamilton their second clean sweep.

Kimball Surprises

Surprise performances were turned in by freshman Pete Kimball and Tony Romano who captured first places in the half-mile and shot put, respectively. Kimball edged classmate Doug Robinson with a time of 2.11, and Romano's toss, measuring 38 ft., 2 in., outdistanced the best efforts of teammates Roger Cunnane and Ted Collins. Romano and Kimball together with Cline accounted for five of Hamilton's nine first places as the freshmen continued to spark the team.

The cindermen have two remaining meets, tomorrow's with Cortland and next Saturday's with Ithaca. Hopes are riding high for a winning season or at least an even split. The record now stands at one victory against one loss.

Tennis Team Wins Two More Matches For 3-0 Record

The Hamilton tennis team scored two victories this past week. Monday afternoon found the Blue netmen traveling to Geneva for a meet with Hobart College. Mox Weber's men made a clean sweep of the meet and came home with a 9-0 victory. Wednesday afternoon the Hillmen scored their third victory of the season as they defeated the U. of Rochester (5-3) on the home courts. This afternoon the netmen were scheduled to face Union in Schenectady.

In the Rochester meet, the Hillmen had a fight on their hands all afternoon. John Watts, playing the number one spot for the Blue, scored a close win over the Yellowjackets' Bob Wigg. Watts thrilled fans with his fine play, and, after an exciting match, was on top by a score of 7-5, 7-5. Co-Captains Phil Hills and Jim Farmer also scored victories in their singles matches. Rochester got their three points when they defeated Hillmen Dan Goodstein, Max Gray, and Harry Pressberg in the remaining singles matches.

In the doubles matches the Blue gained two more victories. Blue netmen Dan Goodstein and Max Gray teamed together to defeat their opponents, and Watts and teamate Dick Miller scored a win in another doubles match. The final match of the afternoon featured the Blue team of Hills and Pressberg against the Yellowjackets' Rog Alexander and Bob Wigg.

Sailors Victorious At College Regatta

Last Sunday afternoon, the recently-organized Hamilton sailing team entered the inter-collegiate sports scene by wining the Invitational Regatta at Cornell University.

Of the four other colleges participating, Le Moyne and Rochester were also sailing in their first meet. Cornell and Syracuse were represented by their freshmen teams. Hamilton finished with 49 points, followed by Syracuse with 41.

Hamilton jumped to an early three-point lead over Cornell during the morning. The Blue won the first two races and placed second in the third.

After two races were sailed in both the 'A' and 'B' divisions, Hamilton was in first place with 21 points, while Syracuse had 19. Hamilton wrapped up the meet with victories in the fifth and sixth races, a second in the seventh, and a win in the eighth.

Representing Hamilton were Dave Smalley, sailing in the 'A' division, and Dick Smalley, sailing in the 'B' division.

Tentative plans have been made for a meet with the Syracuse Varsity this Sunday. The new club also hopes to work in a dual meet with Colgate in the future.

Blue Golfers Win Two From Hobart

The Hamilton College golf team made an impressive showing this past week as they scored victories in two of their three meets. Tomorrow afternoon, R. P. I. travels to Hamilton for a match with the Blue linksmen.

The lone Hamilton loss this week came at the hands of Rochester, 5-4. Joe Buglari led Hamilton with a score of 8-2. The two Blue victories were scored against Hobart. Last Friday afternoon the Hillmen scored an easy 8½-½ victory on the Statesmen's links. Joe Bugliari was the medalist for the Blue with a score of 8-0. In a return match at Hamilton last Wednesday afternoon the Hillmen soundly trounced the Statesmen on the Hamilton links by the score of 9-0. Joe Bugliari was medalist for the third match in a row, shooting an impressive 72.

Highet left the audience with the basic thought that the transfer of ideas from group to group is as important in understanding history as economics and politics.

The Winslow Lecture is a lectureship established at Hamilton from a bequest by William C. Winslow, '62. The foundation provides for a visit to the College each year by a leading scholar in the classical and archeological field.

Gilbert Highet is professor of Greek and Latin at Columbia University. He has been the Anthon Professor of Latin at Columbia since 1950.

During World War II he was a member of the British Missions from 1941 to 1943, and from 1943 to 1946 he was a lieutenant-colonel in the British army.

Highet was graduated from Glasgow University in 1928 and did his graduate work at Oxford University, where he became a Craven scholar in 1930 and an honorary scholar in 1931. He received his second M.A. degree in 1936 at Oxford. He continued to work at the University from 1932 to 1938 as a fellow, lecturer and tutor of the classics.

He is married to novelist Helen McInnes, author of Above Suspicion, who is also on the campus this weekend.

Shaw Play cont'd.

Winship, Mike Parry, Pete Dayton, Patricia Gregory, Jean Rath and Anna Grace Schuster.

Aldo Scafati is directing the play, assisted by Ted Davis. Incidental music has been composed and arranged by Neil Gould. Costumes for the production are the same used by Lili Palmer and Cedric Hardwice in 1949 on Broadway.

Morgan To Address Anglican Meeting

The Anglican Socnety will hold its final meeting for the academic year this Sunday, May 10 at 4:00 p.m. in the L.X.A. House. The speaker will be the Rev. James H. Morgan, '39, who is the senior assistant at St. Thomas Church in New York City.

After being graduated from Hamilton where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Father Morgan entered the General Theological Seminary in New York, from which he was graduated in 1942. He then took a teaching position at the Choir School of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and subsequently was called to St. Thomas Church on Fifth Avenue. Father Morgan holds an M.A. from Columbia and is currently working on his doctorate in Greek. Father Morgan is married and has two children.

On Sunday morning, May 24, there will be a corporate communion at 8:00 a.m. at St. James Church in Clinton for all members of the Anglican Society.

Chapel Board cont'd.

Loren Bullock, Brewster Gere, Otto Liedke, Willard Marsh, George Nesbitt, Channing Richardon, John Van Alstyne, Mox Weber and Sidney Wertimer.

Brandt Homestead

ON THE BLOCK—The Brandt house, pictured above, was bought recently from the Brandt family by the College. The College has not decided what it will do with the house, which was built in 1886 by the late Hill German professor Herman Brandt. Delta Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, and T.K.E. have stated that they might want the house.

'Was Los' Taps 5th, Stan Schade

Stan Schade, '55, was the fifth man to be tapped to Was Los, junior honor society, at Thursday's Chapel Assembly.

Recently re-elected to the Chapel Board, Schade has served in the S.C.A. and the Student Admissions Committee. He is the assistant editor of The Spectator.

Schade is a member of D.T., sophomore honor society, and secretary of Tau Kappa Epsilon. This week, he ran as a candidate to the Student Council in Thursday's elections.

Schade joins a group of sophomores, including Come Coppie, Dave Sagman, John Ibach, and Pete Van Volkenbergh, as new members of Was Los. One more member will be tapped next Thursday.

Hell Week Plans To Be Reviewed

The Academic Council claimed Monday night in a letter to the IFC that the IFC had not properly regulated Initiation Week.

The Council felt that the IFC "did not make an honest attempt to carry out the idea that Initiation Week should interfere less with studies, and that its activities off the Hill should not bring discredit on the College."

The letter went on to say: "We also feel that the program was far from what it might be, and that much can be done to bring it closer to the ideal. . . All too many deviations from the pattern set by the IFC were reported. It may be that more stringent regulations should be adopted."

The Academic Council felt that "nothing can be accomplished by further discussion with this year's IFC." The Council will not bring the matter before the student body until next year's IFC is installed.

Faculty Approval Is Expected For Council Calendar Plan

Hope was expressed by Student Council members this week that the plan for a new calendar system would be approved by the administration and would go into effect next fall.

According to Al Saunders, who spoke at Monday's night Student Council meeting, the faculty is in general agreement with the resolution for setting up a calendar committee of the Council. The plan provides for a more efficient and coordinted system of scheduling events on the campus.

At a meeting at Dean Tolles' house Sunday night, the plan was discussed and revised. Saunders, Charlie Bates and Irv Reid, who form the committee working on the resolution, will rewrite it this week.

Other topics discussed at the Council meeting Monday were: one, a projected study of the relation of fraternities and extra curricular activities to an increased enrollment by 1957; and two Parents' Weekend.

The new Student Council elected yesterday, will hold its first meeting next week.

The Chapel Board, including the newly-elected members, will meet in the Baker Memorial Room on Sunday night after Chapel.
